Tax Exemption Guide for Public Benefit Organisations in South Africa

This brochure is a general guide dealing with the tax exemption of Public Benefit Organisations in South Africa.

Although fairly comprehensive it does not deal with all the legal detail associated with the exemption of Public Benefit Organisations.

It therefore, serves the purpose of a guide only and should not be used as a legal reference.

The brochure is based on the legislation as at 30 November 2002.

1 Introduction

This brochure has been written to assist non-profit organisations in SA to understand the tax implications affecting these organisations, with reference specifically to income tax, donations tax, estate duty, transfer duty and the skills development levy in light of the recent changes to the Income Tax Act dealing with public benefit organisations.

It does not deal with the VAT implications affecting these organisations. A separate brochure dealing with this aspect is available from your local SARS office.

Non-profit organisations have a significant role to play in society as they accept responsibility for the social and development needs of the country thereby relieving the financial burden, which otherwise falls on the State. Tax benefits are designed to assist non-profit organisations with resources and an enabling environment in which to achieve their objectives.

Even if an organisation has a non-profit motive it does not mean that it is automatically exempt from the payment of income tax. The organisation will, however, only be exempt from income and related taxes if it complies with the relevant requirements and conditions as set out in the Tax Legislation.

2 Background

Internationally, non-profit organisations are granted some degree of preferential tax treatment and donor incentives, although the eligibility, criteria and available benefits differ from country to country. In SA, religious, charitable and educational institutions of a public character were traditionally exempt from income and related taxes.

In the absence of case law and statutory definitions, the Commissioner was burdened with the interpretation and implementation of these provisions and often unable to accommodate worthy organisations because their activities did not fall within the letter of the Act.

Following recommendations by the Katz-Commission, the Minister of Finance, in his 2000 Budget Speech, announced wide-ranging changes to the legislation regulating the income tax exemption of non-profit organisations. The objective of the new legislation was to cluster certain types of entities together and treat them uniformly and to provide more certainty to taxpayers and the Commissioner on the qualifying requirements of tax exempt entities. The Taxation Laws Amendment Act, No 30 of 2000, introduced the new concept of a "public benefit organisation" carrying on a "public benefit activity."

The Minister may expand the list of public benefit activities by notice in the Gazette. The new provisions are more objective which will result in more certainty. The new provisions also include specific sanction measures if an exemption is misused.

A special dedicated office will deal with the applications for exemption and the annual assessment of exempt organisations to ensure specialised and uniform treatment, and assist in the prevention of abuse.

The list of organisations authorised to issue tax certificates entitling donors to a tax deduction was also broadened, and the qualifying threshold for individuals was increased from 2% to 5% to bring it in line with companies. (See Chapter 12 - Tax Deductibility of Donations)

4 Income tax exemption

Preferential tax treatment is granted to non-profit organisations established for the benefit of the general public. However, this preferential treatment will only be available to organisations complying with the provisions of the Act and related legislation, both on application for exemption from taxes and duties, and during the existence of the organisation.

This brochure deals mainly with the requirements relevant to public benefit organisations which will apply to the majority of non-profit organisations qualifying for income tax and related exemptions. A summary of other exempt organisations is provided in Annexure A.

PBOs are exempt from income tax in terms of section 10(1)(cN) of the Act. The requirements to qualify for this exemption are detailed in section 30.

Approved PBOs therefore enjoy the benefit of spending public funds which they generate, on a tax free basis. SARS must therefore ensure that exempt organisations utilise their funds solely for their objectives, without any personal gain being enjoyed by the founders or fiduciaries. Furthermore, being a non-profit organisation such as a company incorporated under section 21 of the Companies Act, is not, in itself sufficient to justify an income tax exemption. The Commissioner will approve a PBO only if the organisation carries on one or more public benefit activity and complies with the formal requirements of the Act as detailed hereafter.

5 Qualifying PBOs

5.1 Public Benefit Organisation

5.1.1 Type of organisation

To qualify as a PBO an organisation should be either:

- n A company incorporated under section 21 of the Companies Act. A section 21 company has a memorandum and articles of association as founding document and is registered with the Registrar of Companies.
- n A trust has as founding document, a trust deed which is registered with the Master of the High Court.
- n An association of persons is a voluntary association of persons which is governed by a constitution.

5.1.2 Object of organisation

The sole object of the organisation must be to carry on one or more PBA (see 5.2) as determined by the Minister in the Ninth Schedule to the Act or in subsequent Gazettes.

The organisation may, itself conduct the activities or it may provide funds to other approved PBOs carrying on the activities.

5.1.2.1 How must the activities be carried on?

The activities must be carried on in a non-profit manner and with an altruistic or philanthropic intent. An organisation carrying on a PBA as part of a profit-making venture will not qualify as a PBO.

5.1.2.2 No self-interest

No activity may directly or indirectly promote the economic self-interest of any fiduciary or employee. This will not prohibit the payment of reasonable remuneration to employees or office bearers.

5.1.2.3 Where carried on?

At least 85% of the activities of a PBO, measured either in cost or in time spent, must be carried out for the benefit of persons in SA. In special circumstances, the Minister of Finance may grant permission to spend more time and/or money outside SA, without jeopardising the exempt status of an organisation.

Example 1

An approved PBO carries on relief work both within South Africa and Mozambique: Expenditure is incurred within South Africa amounting to R60 000.00 and expenditure is incurred within Mozambique amounting to R 80 000.00,

Time spent on the approved activity in South Africa amounts to 86% while the time spent on the activity in Mozambique is 14%.

Although the expenditure incurred by this approved PBO is less than 85% within the Republic, the dual test requires either that 85% of the expenditure must be incurred within the Republic or 85% of the time needs to be spent within the Republic. This PBO would not be in contravention with this provision and would qualify for exemption from income tax.

5.1.2.4 For whose benefit?

The activities of a PBO must be carried on for the benefit of the general public. This requirement will be met if:

- n the activities are widely accessible or for the benefit of the general public at large. (This may include a specific sector of the general public, but may not be a small and exclusive group).

Example 2

An approved PBO engages in an activity which is only available for a select group: such as a fund which has been established solely for the benefit of the employees of the specific company would not qualify, while a school established for persons of the Hindu, Muslim or Christian faith would qualify for exemption.

- n The activities of the PBO are carried on for the benefit of, or are readily accessible to the poor and needy

Example 3

An approved PBO engages in an activity for the benefit of and is readily accessible to the poor and needy, such as:

- soup kitchens;
- home care which is provided to a broad spectrum of the community, such as AIDS sufferers.

- n The organisation is 85% funded by donations or grants from the government, foreign states or international organisations.

5.2 Public benefit activities

The PBAs determined by The Minister of Finance thus far, are listed in Part 1 of the Ninth Schedule to the Act. The Minister may however determine additional PBAs from time to time by way of a notice in the Government Gazette, which are of a benevolent nature taking into account the needs, interests and well-being of the general public. Parliament must approve the activities within 12 months from publication in the Gazette whereafter it will be incorporated in the Ninth Schedule.

PBAs are categorised as follows:

- n Welfare and Humanitarian
- n Health Care
- n Land and Housing
- n Education and Development
- n Religion, Belief or Philosophy
- n Cultural
- n Conservation, Environment and Animal Welfare
- n Research and Consumer Rights
- n Sport
- n Providing of funds, assets and other resources to approved organisations carrying on PBAs.
- n General

A complete list of the activities is available as Annexure B to this Brochure.

5.3 Formal requirements to be incorporated in founding document

The Commissioner may approve an organisation as a PBO only if its constitution or founding document clearly states that the activities and resources of the organisation are aimed at the furtherance of its object of conducting one or more approved PBA. A clause must be included which clearly sets out the aims and objectives of the PBO, which must be to carry on one or more PBA. The founding document must also provide for the requirements as set out hereafter. When considering an application for exemption, the founding document as a whole will be examined to ensure that the requirements are complied with, notwithstanding the specific wording used to give effect thereto.

The following requirements must therefore specifically be included in the founding document.

5.3.1 Fiduciary responsibility

A PBO must have at least three unconnected persons to accept fiduciary responsibility for the organisation. No single person may have the authority to directly or indirectly control the decision-making powers relating to the organisation.

However, a trust established in terms of a will of any person who died on or before 31 December 2003 will not be subject to this limitation. The reason for this exclusion is that a will establishing a trust does not always make provision for a number of trustees and sufficient time is being granted for persons to amend their wills or to include such a provision in new wills, to ensure compliance with this requirement.

Natural persons will be connected if they are related to one another. Relatives include spouses and anybody related to a person or his spouse within the third degree of consanguinity. An adopted child is deemed to be related to his adoptive parents within the first degree of consanguinity. A fiduciary who intentionally fails to comply with the Act shall be guilty of an offence.

5.3.2 Use of funds

5.3.2.1 Solely for object

The tax exempt status of a PBO effectively entitles the PBO the utilisation of public money to achieve objectives for the benefit of the general public. The funds of a PBO must therefore be utilised solely for the objectives as approved or must be invested for such future use.

5.3.2.2 Prohibition from distribution

A PBO may not distribute its funds to any person, unless it is in the course of undertaking a PBA. The payment of reasonable remuneration to employees or office bearers conducting the affairs of the PBO to achieve its objectives, is not limited by this prohibition.

5.3.2.3 Investment of surplus funds

Surplus funds of a PBO may only be invested:

- n with a financial institution as defined in section 1 of the Financial Services Board Act, 1990 (Act No. 97 of 1990);

Example 4

Examples of such investments would include:

- Unit Trusts
- Registered Banks- Fixed deposits etc

Excluded:

- Investments in private companies.
- Investments in stokvels etc.
- Pyramid type schemes
- Offshore investments unless done through a registered financial institution.

- n In securities listed on a stock exchange as defined in section 1 of the Stock Exchanges Control Act, 1985 (Act No. 1 of 1985), such as shares listed on the Johannesburg Stock Exchange; or
- n In other prudent investments in financial instruments and assets which the Commissioner may determine in consultation with the Executive Officer of the Financial Services Board and the Director of Nonprofit Organisations.

Further notification will be issued in this regard.

If an organisation receives any other investment as a donation, bequest or inheritance, the investment may be retained in such form, unless it is a business undertaking or trading activity.

Unless such business undertaking or trading activity is transferred to a separate taxable entity, the PBO will lose its exempt status.

5.3.3 Dissolution

A PBO which has enjoyed exemption from tax, and has utilised this benefit to carry on approved PBAs, may therefore not, on dissolution, distribute any of its funds to individuals or other tax-paying entities, thus enabling the recipients to share in the benefit of the exemption which it, the PBO, has enjoyed.

The founding document of a PBO must therefore state that on dissolution, the remaining assets must be transferred to:

- n A similar PBO approved by the Commissioner as a PBO
- n An organisation established by law as envisaged in section 10(1)(cA)(i) of the Act, which carries on an approved PBA
- n A department or administration in the national, provincial or local sphere of Government of SA.

5.3.4 Trading

Trading or the carrying on of a business undertaking by tax-exempt organisations is a major cause for concern, as exempt entities should not be seen to be in competition with other taxpaying entities, by conducting the same or similar business activities in a tax-free environment, thereby undermining fair competition and eroding the tax base.

It is, however, accepted that certain exempt organisations do engage in trading activities, in order to further the public benefit activity conducted by the PBO, or as part of fund raising activities conducted by the organisation. In these circumstances, trading or business activities may be acceptable.

In terms of the new legislation, PBOs are therefore entitled to carry on business or trading activities within specific parameters. There are four categories where its trading activities will not affect a PBO's tax-exempt status. Each category has its own conditions and requirements.

5.3.4.1 The De Minimis rule

An organisation may carry on business or trading activities if it is on a very small scale in relation to its other activities. Business or trading activities will be acceptable in these circumstances if the gross income from all business or trading activities of the organisation is less than the greater of 15% of the gross receipts of the organisation, or R25 000. The term "receipts" include all sources of income received such as, donations, grants, etc.

Example 5

It is irrelevant to what extent a profit is derived from the trading activities. It may therefore be, that a religious institution could sell books at a profit, or a school let their hall to outside parties, provided the total receipts from all trading activities carried on by the organisation do not exceed the 15% or R25 000 limitation.

Example 6

ABC Charity runs a soup kitchen for homeless people, and in order to augment their income, they run a butchery.

Donations received:	R100 000
Butchery income (gross)	R50 000
Interest Income	R100 000
Total Income	R250 000

In terms of this provision, 15% of the total receipts may be gross income from trading. This means that the gross income from trading for this PBO may not exceed R37500. This PBO would either forfeit its exempt status or have to divest itself of the trading activity

5.3.4.2 Related trade

Trading or business activities that are integral and directly related to the sole object of the PBO, will be acceptable. However, substantially the whole of the business or trading activity must be conducted on a cost recovery basis and may not result in unfair competition with other taxpaying entities.

SARS will interpret the concept "substantially the whole" as being more than 80%.

Related trading activities would for example, be student or tuition fees received by a PBO conducting approved educational PBAs; an old age home charging residents a residential fee, or accommodation income by a hostel.

5.3.4.3 Unrelated trade

Unrelated trading or business activities may be carried on if the activities are of an occasional nature and mainly undertaken with voluntary and uncompensated assistance. Unrelated trading activities will include occasional fund raising activities such as fêtes, cake sales, raffles or sponsored golf events, which are undertaken with voluntary assistance.

5.3.4.4 Ministerial approval

The Minister may approve a specific undertaking or activity by notice in the Gazette, taking into account the:

- n Scope and benevolent nature of the undertaking or activity
- n The direct connection and interrelationship of the undertaking or activity with the sole purpose of the PBO
- n The profitability of the undertaking or activity
- n The level of economic distortion that will be caused by the carrying on of the undertaking or activity by a tax-exempt body

Any submissions in this regard will have to clearly demonstrate and motivate the benefits of the activity for the general public, together with reasons why it will not result in unfair competition with other taxpayers, or erode the tax base.

5.3.4.5 Transfer of trading assets

A PBO will be allowed to retain any business asset or trading activity acquired before 1 January 2001 for a period of five years from that date in the form it was acquired, notwithstanding the prohibition on trade as discussed above. After the five year transitional period, the PBO must either dispose of the asset or transfer it to a separate taxable entity.

Where the business asset constitutes immovable property, which is transferred to a separate taxable entity, the transaction will not be liable to transfer duty.

5.3.5 Non-revocable donations

A PBO may not accept any donation that may be recalled by the donor, except where the recipient fails to abide by the conditions of the donation. Furthermore, a donor may not impose conditions which will entitle the donor or a connected person to obtain some direct or indirect benefit from the application of the donation.

This prohibition is, however, not applicable where the donor is another approved PBO, or an entity established by or under law which is exempt from income tax in terms of Section 10(1)(cA)(i) and which itself is carrying on a PBA. For example, a foundation established to benefit a University.

5.3.6 Amendments

A PBO is obliged to submit a copy of all amendments to its founding document to the Commissioner. This requirement must be formally included in the founding document. The amendments must be submitted as soon as they have been effected. It will therefore not be possible to submit a founding document which complies with the provisions of the Act at the time of applying for exemption and subsequently, amending it to include contrary provisions, without jeopardising the income tax exemption of the PBO.

5.4 Other requirements

5.4.1 Participation in tax avoidance schemes

Once an exemption is approved, it is subject to annual review upon receipt of the income tax return and financial statements. Only if it complies with all the requirements relative to the approval of the exemption, will an exemption be approved, provided also that the organisation is or was not knowingly a party to or permitted itself to be used in any tax avoidance schemes to reduce, postpone or avoid any liability to tax by any person.

5.4.2 Remuneration

Employees, office bearers, members or other persons serving a PBO may receive reasonable remuneration for services rendered to a PBO; provided that:-

- n The remuneration is not excessive; and
- n Such remuneration does not economically benefit any person in a manner which is inconsistent with the objects of PBO.

Reasonable remuneration is determined based on the extent of the service rendered and what is considered fair and reasonable in the specific sector.

5.4.3 Funds to associations of persons

In terms of previous legislation, exempt funds were allowed to donate funds only to other exempt institutions, resulting in PBOs not being able to assist deserving informal community projects. The new legislation, provides that a PBO is entitled to donate funds to an association of persons carrying on PBAs, even if the association has not been approved as a PBO.

The Commissioner will allow the provision of funds in these circumstances only if he is satisfied that the PBO has taken reasonable steps to ensure that the funds are utilised for the purpose for which they were provided, namely to promote the PBA carried on by the association of persons. As in the case of a PBO, the funds may not be utilised to economically benefit any single individual person. As it is difficult for the Commissioner to readily monitor such informal associations of persons, or to ensure proper compliance, the donor must satisfy himself that reasonable steps have been taken to ensure that the funds have been used for the purpose for which they have been provided.

5.4.4 NPO Act

A PBO must register in terms of section 13(5) of the Nonprofit Organisations Act, and comply with the requirements of that Act, within such period as the Commissioner may determine. However, where the PBO is unable to register as it does not comply with the requirements of that Act for registration, the Commissioner, in consultation with the Director of Nonprofit Organisations may, on good cause shown, waive this requirement.

5.4.5 Political objects

Political objects are not considered to be for the public benefit in the context of PBOs. A PBO may, therefore, not use its resources directly or indirectly to support, advance or oppose any political party.

An exemption is provided for registered political parties in Section 10(1)(cE) of the Act.

5.4.6 Written undertaking/Amendments

There are two situations in which an alternative procedure involving a written undertaking will be sufficient.

- n An organisation carrying on PBAs may be established in terms of a will or a founding document or under a constitution that cannot be amended. The founding document will often not comply with the requirements that need to be incorporated in terms of section 30, as discussed in 5.3 above. In these circumstances, the persons responsible for the administration of the funds and assets of the organisation may submit a written undertaking that the organisation will be administered in compliance with the provisions of section 30 of the Act. The founding document will then be deemed to comply with the formal requirements of section 30.
- n Organisations which enjoyed income tax exemption prior to the introduction of the new legislation, and which comply with the provisions of section 30, but whose founding document does not make provision for these requirements, may also submit a written undertaking to this effect. Such organisations will also be deemed, for a period of five years, to comply with the relevant requirements. The written undertaking will serve the same purpose, and will be similarly binding on the organisation. Non-compliance with the written undertaking will result in the same penalties and actions as if it were the founding document. These implications are discussed in detail in Chapter 11 - Tax avoidance / Non-compliance.

An example of the written undertaking to be submitted to the Commissioner is available as Annexure H (E12 - Written undertaking).

6 Specific issues in respect of PBOs

6.1 Educational institutions: Schools

In terms of the South African Schools Act a school is registered as either a public school or an independent school.

6.1.1 Public Schools

6.1.1.1 Income Tax Exemption

Public schools established in terms of the SA Schools Act, do not have a constitution or other founding document and are also not regarded as a trust or an association of persons as contemplated in section 30. A public school can therefore not be approved as a PBO and therefore does not qualify for the exemption in section 10(1)(cN). However, being established under law, it qualifies for exemption in terms of section 10(1)(cA)(i) of the Act.

Section 18A specifically provides for organisations established by law, and carrying on PBAs which are approved for section 18A purposes, to be entitled to the same beneficial tax treatment as a PBO.

The section 18A status must be formally approved by the Commissioner.

6.1.1.2 Tax deductibility of donations

A public school wishing to apply for approval to issue tax deductible receipts to donors (See Chapter 12 - Tax Deductibility of Donations) must complete an Application for Exemption Form -E11 (See Annexure F) and submit the completed form with the relevant documentation to SARS, clearly indicating that it is a public school.

If a public school does not wish to issue tax-deductible receipts in terms of section 18A, it is at this stage not necessary to apply for exemption from income tax in terms of section 10(1)(cA)(i) of the Act.

6.1.1.3 Trading by public schools

Section 10(1)(cA)(i) currently does not contain a specific provision prohibiting the organisation from carrying on business or trading activities. However, the exemption is subject to approval by the Commissioner who may impose such terms and conditions as are deemed necessary to ensure that the activities of the organisation are wholly or mainly directed to its sole or principal object. The tax exemption of a section 10(1)(cA)(i) public school engaging in trading activities which are not wholly or mainly directed at the furtherance of its sole or principal object of providing education, could therefore be withdrawn. (See Chapter 11 - Tax avoidance/Non-compliance).

There will be no objection to a school itself running a tuck shop, a second hand clothing shop or holding fund raising activities such as fêtes, bazaars, cake sales, fun runs etc.

6.1.2 Independent schools

Independent schools which are registered as such in terms of the SA Schools Act, can be established as an association of persons or as a trust or a company incorporated under section 21 of the Companies Act. The school will then have a constitution, trust deed or memorandum and articles of association, falling within the ambit of sections 10(1)(cN) and 30 of the Act. Provided the school complies with the provisions of section 30 and amends its founding document accordingly, the Commissioner may approve the school as a PBO.

The independent school will be subject to the trading provisions of section 30.

6.2 Sporting associations

Sporting associations qualifying for exemption from tax can be divided in two categories, namely social and recreational clubs and amateur sporting bodies. Although both categories qualify for tax exemption, they are exempt in terms of different sections of the Act.

6.2.1 Social and recreational clubs

Social and recreational clubs are often established exclusively to provide social and recreational amenities or facilities to its members, and not to the general public. Examples of these clubs would include tennis, flying, football, golf, bowls, polo, and recreation and social clubs. The clubs usually indulge in activities which border on the carrying on of a business, such as the provision of meals and liquor or other refreshments.

Social and recreational clubs would apply for exemption in terms of section 10(1)(d)(iv)(aa) of the Act. This section provides that the Minister may, by way of regulation, prescribe conditions that must be complied with before approving an exemption. These regulations are not yet available, but will be issued shortly and will indicate the requirements to be complied with and to which extent business activities may be carried on.

6.2.2 Amateur sporting bodies

The administration, development, co-ordination or promotion of sport or recreation in which the participants take part on a non-professional basis as a pastime, is included in the Ninth Schedule as an approved PBA.

Organisations engaged in amateur sporting activities could include regional, provincial or national federations which are formed to administer, develop, co-ordinate or promote a particular sport or code provided the participants partake in the sport as a pastime, on a non-professional basis and are not rewarded financially. Provided the organisation conducts the PBA in a non-profit manner and subject to the provisions of section 30, these organisations will be approved as PBOs and exempt from tax in terms of section 10(1)(cN) of the Act.

6.3 Scholarships

Regulations will be published in the Government Gazette.

6.4 Trans-frontier Areas / Peace Parks

Regulations have been published in this regard. See Annexure I.

6.5 Granting of Loans

Regulations relating to the granting of loans relative to Paragraphs 1(p)(iii); 3(f) and 10(c) of Part I of the Ninth Schedule to the Act, will be published in the Gazette shortly.

7 Reporting requirements

7.1 Record keeping

Any books of account, records or other documents of an approved PBO must be retained and carefully preserved for a period of four years after the last date of an entry in any book or, if kept in electronic or any other form, for a period of four years after completion of the transaction, act or operation to which they relate. It is the responsibility of the person in control of the organisation to ensure that the necessary records are kept. Failure to keep the necessary records is an offence which may result in a fine or imprisonment. (See Chapter 11 - Tax Avoidance/Non-compliance).

7.2 Income tax returns

All PBOs are obliged to render annual income tax returns, notwithstanding the exemption resulting in no tax liability for the PBO. The return enables the Commissioner to assess whether the PBO is operating within the prescribed limits of its exemption.

7.3 Financial statements

The income tax return must be accompanied by documents to support the information contained in the return. This will include financial statements, constituting an income statement, balance sheet and any other accounts necessary to support the information. The accounts must be signed by the taxpayer (or its fiduciary) and by the person who has prepared them on behalf of the taxpayer.

7.4 Information available to SARS

In order to assist the Commissioner in enforcing the provisions of the Act, he or she may require any person to provide, in writing, information relating to an approved PBO by answering questions, make books of account, records or other documents relating to the PBO available for inspection, or to meet with the Commissioner to produce any books of account, records or other documents relating to the PBO for examination.

8 Implementation dates

The PBO legislation was inserted by section 35(1) of the Taxation Laws Amendment Act No 30 of 2000, but only came into effect on 15 July 2001. The Commissioner may approve an exemption in respect of a PBO with retroactive effect, where the organisation previously qualified for exemption in terms of the repealed legislation, but did not apply. These entities must apply before the last day of their first year of assessment or, on or before 31 December 2003, whichever is the later.

9 Transitional Provisions

9.1 Currently exempt institutions

Organisations currently exempt from income tax in terms of the provisions of the previous legislation will continue to enjoy the exemption if they apply for exemption in terms of the new legislation on or before 31 December 2003. If the founding document does not comply with the provisions of section 30, the application must be accompanied by a signed written undertaking (See Annexure G). The previous exemption will continue to apply until such time as notified by the Commissioner of his decision in terms of the new legislation.

The PBO is, however, required to formally amend its founding document to comply with the provisions of section 30 within a period of 5 years from 15 July 2001 or whenever an amendment is effected to the founding document, whichever date occurs first.

9.2 New applications

Organisations which are currently not formally exempt from income tax, must submit a completed application form (See Annexure F) together with the required supporting documentation, as well as a signed written undertaking. The Commissioner may approve an application for exemption with retrospective effect, if application is made before the last day of the first year of assessment of the organisation or on or before 31 December 2003, whichever is the later.

10 Group registrations

10.1 General

The Commissioner has authority to grant approval to a group of organisations sharing a common purpose if the group carries on any PBA under the direction and supervision of a regulating or co-ordinating body. The regulating or co-ordinating body must take the necessary steps to ensure that all the affiliated organisations comply with the provisions of section 30.

Group registrations for PBOs must comply with, inter alia, the following requirements:

- n All the organisations in the group must share a common purpose and conduct the same approved PBAs
- n The founding document of the co-ordinating body and the organisations within the group must be common or similar, and must be amended to comply with the provisions of section 30
- n The Commissioner must be informed of all amendments effected to the constitution of the co-ordinating body and of the group organisations
- n The co-ordinating body must ensure that the entities within the group comply with the provisions of section 30
- n The co-ordinating body must report to the Commissioner any entity within the group which acts contrary to the provisions of section 30
- n The group of entities must all fall directly under the direction and supervision of the co-ordinating body
- n The consolidated annual financial report of the group of entities must contain a certified report that all the entities within the group complied with the provisions of section 30.

When submitting the application for exemption, the co-ordinating body must submit a list of the names and addresses of all the entities in the group. On approval, only one income tax reference number will be allocated to the group as a whole. Group registrations could apply to religious organisations or, any organisation functioning nationwide under the auspices of a regulating or co-ordinating body and, which would comply with the aforementioned criteria.

10.2 Non-compliance

Non-compliance by the regulating or co-ordinating body, intentionally or negligently to exercise the required control over any PBO in the group, or to notify the Commissioner of any material failure of any group entity to comply with any provision of section 30, shall result, after due notice, in the withdrawal of the exemption of the group. The withdrawal will be effective from the beginning of the year of assessment in which the non-compliance or failure occurred, unless the required corrective steps are taken within the period allowed by the Commissioner. Before withdrawal of the exemption, the Commissioner must first give notice of intention to withdraw and it must be clear that no corrective steps have been taken by the organisation.

11 Tax Avoidance/Non-compliance

11.1 Exemption not granted

A non-profit, organisation not approved as a PBO will be liable for income and other taxes and duties as normal taxpayers.

- n A section 21 company not approved as a PBO, will therefore be liable for tax at the company rate of 30% on all taxable income, i.e. gross income less exempt income and allowable deductions. Further secondary tax on companies may be payable on distributions by section 21 companies.

- n A trust not approved as a PBO, will be subject to tax on taxable income at a rate of 40%, subject to the concession relating to conduit trusts.
- n Any other association of persons is deemed to be a company and will be subject to tax at the company tax rate of 30%.

11.2 Offences

Any person responsible for the management or control of the income and assets of an approved PBO who intentionally fails to comply with any provision of section 30 or the founding document of the organisation, shall be guilty of an offence. If a person, with the intent to evade taxation, makes a false statement or entry in a return, or signs any statement without reasonable grounds for believing it to be true, gives any false answer, prepares any false books of account or other records or falsifies any books of account or records or makes use of any fraud, art or contrivance, he or she shall be guilty of an offence. When it is proved that any false statement or entry is made by or on behalf of a taxpayer, the taxpayer shall be presumed, until the contrary is proven, to have knowingly made the false statement or to have allowed it to be made.

11.3 Penalties

If a person is guilty of any of the offences as discussed above, he or she shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine, or imprisonment for a period not exceeding 2 years.

11.4 Additional tax

A taxpayer who makes default in rendering his return, omits any income from his or her return or makes an incorrect statement in his return which would result in him paying less tax than the tax properly chargeable, shall be liable to twice the tax chargeable in respect of his income. The Commissioner may remit the additional charge or any part thereof as the Commissioner deems fit if there are extenuating circumstances and the Commissioner is satisfied the act or omission was not done deliberately to evade tax. A PBO will not have any chargeable tax, but upon withdrawal of the approval (see 11.5), the organisation may be liable to additional tax up to twice the chargeable tax levied in terms of section 30(7).

11.5 Withdrawal of approval

11.5.1 Under which circumstances

The Commissioner must withdraw a PBOs approval if the Commissioner is satisfied that the PBO, in any year of assessment in any material respect or on a continuous or repetitive basis failed to comply with the provisions of section 30 or its founding document as it relates to the provisions of section 30. The approval shall be withdrawn, after due notice is given to the transgressing PBO, with effect from the beginning of the relevant year of assessment, unless the PBO has taken corrective steps within a period specified by the Commissioner in the notice to the PBO.

11.5.2 Consequences

Once the approval of the Commissioner is withdrawn, the organisation must, within three months, unless the Commissioner allows a longer period, transfer or take reasonable steps to transfer its remaining assets to another approved PBO that is not connected to the PBO.

If the organisation fails to transfer its remaining assets, the accumulated net revenue which has not been distributed in terms of section 30, will be deemed to be taxable income which accrued to the organisation during the year of assessment in which the approval was withdrawn.

11.5.3 Re-application

Once an exemption has been withdrawn, an organisation may re-apply for approval in the year of assessment following the year of the withdrawal. If the Commissioner is satisfied that the non-compliance giving rise to the withdrawal has been rectified, the Commissioner may grant the approval.

12 Tax deductibility of Donations

12.1 General

It is widely accepted that the tax deductibility of donations influences donor behaviour. Government has recognised this and, to further assist PBOs, donations to a limited number of categories of PBOs may be deducted from the taxable income of the donating taxpayer. A list of the PBAs approved by the Minister for purposes of section 18A, is published in Part II of the Ninth Schedule to the Act. Previously this benefit was limited to donations made to secondary and tertiary educational institutions. A wider range of activities is currently included in the list of approved activities (See Annexure C). This list may be extended from year to year at the discretion of the Minister. Similar to PBOs, the Commissioner may grant approval to a group of organisations under the direction or supervision of a regulating or co-ordinating body that ensures that all organisations in the group comply with the provisions of the Act. (In this regard please see Chapter 10 - "Group Registrations.")

12.2 Section 18A approved organisations

12.2.1 Organisations conducting approved PBAs

Donations made to a PBO which has been approved in terms of section 30 of the Act or to an entity which is exempt in terms of section 10(1)(cA)(i) of the Act (having been approved by the Commissioner), are deductible by the donor if the organisation or entity carries on an approved PBA as set out in Part II of the Ninth Schedule for purposes of section 18A. (See Annexure C) The organisation or entity must carry on its activities in South Africa.

12.2.2 Organisations providing funds to PBOs

A PBO solely providing funds to a Section 18A approved PBO (see 12.2.1 above) will also be entitled to issue receipts for the deduction of donations to it. The organisation is obliged to distribute or incur the obligation to distribute during the following year of assessment, at least 75% of those funds received by it which represent tax deductible donations.

Having regard to the public interest and purpose for which the organisation wishes to accumulate the funds, the Commissioner may, subject to such conditions, waive the obligation to distribute any of the funds received by way of tax deductible donations.

Example 7

The ABC Charity Foundation wishes to collect sufficient funds to contribute to an Orphanage (a separate PBO) in order for them to erect a home for abandoned babies. In terms of the Foundations current income, it will take the foundation three years to raise sufficient funds. In such instances the Commissioner can be approached for a relaxation of the 75% distribution rule.

This will not be relaxed for purposes of merely providing an endowment for the Charity Foundation or for building up capital funds in the Foundation.

12.3 Deduction of donations

A taxpayer making a bona fide donation in cash or in kind to a section 18A approved organisation is entitled to a deduction from his taxable income if the donation:

- n is supported by the necessary receipt issued by the organisation; and
- n does not exceed the greater of:
 - five percent of the taxable income of the taxpayer, calculated before allowing any deduction under section 18A or any deduction for medical and dental expenses; or
 - R1 000.

12.4 Receipt to be issued

A taxpayer will only be allowed to claim a deduction for a donation to a section 18A approved organisation if it is supported by a receipt issued by the organisation. The receipt issued by the organisation must include at least the following details:

- n the reference number of the organisation issued to it by the Commissioner for purposes of section 18A;
- n the date of the receipt of the donation;
- n the name and address of the organisation in case of any enquiries;
- n the name and address of the donor;
- n the amount or nature of the donation if not in cash;
- n a certification that the receipt is issued for the purpose of section 18A and that the donation will be used exclusively for the object of the PBO, institution, board or body concerned. Examples are to be found in Annexure H.

12.5 Donations in kind

A taxpayer may claim a deduction for donations in kind made to a section 18A approved organisation. The amount of the deduction to be allowed in these circumstances will be, where the property:

- n forms part of trading stock of the taxpayer, including livestock or fresh produce of farmers, the market value of the trading stock;
- n is an asset used in his trade, the cost to the taxpayer less any allowance (other than an investment allowance) deducted from the income of the taxpayer for that asset;
- n is not trading stock or a business asset, the cost to the taxpayer less any reasonable depreciation in the case of deterioration of movable property;
- n is purchased, manufactured, erected, assembled, installed or constructed, the cost to the taxpayer.

12.6 Abuse of approval

A donation is a fortuitous receipt where the donor is impoverished and the donee is benefited without any expectation or entitlement by the donor for anything in return. If the Commissioner has reasonable grounds for believing that any person has with intent:

- n Failed to carry out the objects of the organisation or has expended the moneys of the organisation for purposes not covered by the objects; or
- n Issued section 18A receipts to any taxpayer for any fees or other emoluments payable by the taxpayer to the organisation.

The Commissioner shall give written notice that donations shall not qualify for deduction in any year of assessment specified in the relevant notice. This will have a negative impact on all other donors that bona fide contributed to the organisation, which donors will also lose their benefit of a tax deduction.

13 Exemption from other taxes and duties

In addition to being exempt from the payment of income tax, PBOs will also enjoy the benefit of being exempt from a number of other taxes and duties. The exemptions are subject to the approval of the organisation as a PBO.

13.1 Donations tax

Donations tax is levied at a rate of 20% on any gratuitous disposal of property by one person to another, including the disposal of property at less than its market value. Donations tax is payable by the donor, but if the donor fails to pay the tax timeously, the donor and donee shall be jointly and severally liable for the tax.

Natural persons are exempt from donations tax on the first R30 000 of property donated during any year of assessment, and R10 000 of casual gifts for other persons. Specific exemption is granted for donations made by or to any PBO and any organisation established by or under law. The exemption is also applicable to government, local authorities, political parties and organisations exempt from income tax in terms of sections 10(1)(d) and (e). (See Annexure A).

Public companies are exempt from donations tax.

13.2 Estate Duty

Estate duty is levied at a rate of 20% on the net estate of a deceased person. Any property bequeathed to a PBO shall be excluded from the value of the estate and therefore not be subject to estate duty.

13.3 Transfer Duty

Transfer duty is levied on a sliding scale on the value of fixed property acquired by any person. The rates vary from 0% to 8% in the case of natural persons. Legal persons and trusts pay transfer duty at the rate of 10%. A PBO exempt from income tax in terms of section 10(1)(cN) is exempt from the payment of transfer duty on property acquired for the purpose of carrying on an approved PBA. The transfer duty exemption is granted per transaction. The exemption will be approved on receipt of the relevant documentation from the conveyancer which has been submitted to the local SARS office. A copy of the letter of exemption must accompany the application, as well as details of the activities to be carried out on the property.

Where property is transferred by an exempt PBO to any other entity which is controlled by the PBO in order to comply with the provisions of the proviso to section 30(3), no transfer duty is payable, in terms of section 9(1A) of the Transfer Duty Act.

13.4 Stamp Duty

Stamp duty is levied on certain instruments as defined in the Stamp Duties Act. PBOs are exempt from the payment of stamp duties. However, the duty payable on debit entries on cheque, credit card and transmissions accounts at banks, building societies and post office accounts are not covered by the exemption.

13.5 Skills Development Levy

A compulsory levy to fund education and training is levied broadly on 1% of the payroll of employers. An approved PBO is exempt from the payment of the skills development levy if it solely carries on an approved PBA as contemplated in paragraphs 1; 2(a), (b), (c), (d) and 5 of Part I of the Ninth Schedule to the Income Tax Act or a PBO that provides funds solely to such PBO which carries on these PBAs.

13.6 Capital gains tax

Any taxable capital gain of a person is included in the taxable income of that person. Organisations enjoying exemption from income tax will therefore also be exempt from capital gains tax.

Where a person donates an asset which would have resulted in a liability for CGT, an exemption is provided, if the recipient is an approved PBO.

14 Objections and appeals

Any decision of the Commissioner in the exercise of his discretion in section 30 will be subject to objection and appeal. The Commissioner will exercise his discretion to determine whether:

- n an organisation is or was knowingly a party to, or knowingly allowed itself to be used as part of a tax avoidance scheme;
- n a PBO granting funds to an association of persons not approved as a PBO has taken reasonable steps to ensure that the funds are utilised for the purpose for which it was provided;
- n a PBO has in any material respect, or on a continuous or repetitive basis failed to comply with the provisions of section 30, before giving notice that the exemption will be withdrawn;
- n the non-compliance giving rise to withdrawal of a PBO approval has been rectified before considering a re-application for approval as a PBO.

Being subject to objection and appeal, a taxpayer may object against any of the above decisions within 30 days from the date of the decision. The objection must be in writing and specify in detail the grounds upon which it is made. The Commissioner will consider the objection and may alter his decision, or disallow the objection. On disallowance of the objection, an organisation being dissatisfied with the decision may appeal to the Special Court for hearing Income Tax Appeals. Such appeal must be in writing and lodged with the Commissioner within 30 days of the notice of disallowance of the objection.

Section 30 of the Income Tax Act

This document is an unofficial consolidation of section 30 of the Income Tax Act, 58 of 1962, introduced by the Taxation Laws Amendment Act, 30 of 2000, the amendments effected by the Revenue Laws Amendment Act, 19 of 2001 and the amendments effected by the Taxation Laws Amendment Act, 30 of 2002. While care has been taken in its preparation, errors may exist and the original legislation should be consulted in case of doubt.
